

MSE 451 Project - OUTLINE OF WORK TO BE ACCOMPLISHED:

The MSE 451 project report itself must comprise a straightforward brief title, an abstract that describes the 'mission' and mentions the achievements of the paper/project as briefly succinctly as possible. Next comes a survey of previous work, narrative explaining the context of the work, objectives developed from the survey, enhancements, design of whatever experiments might have been performed, results of experiments, qualification trials etc. regular technical report format with beginning, middle and end embracing discussion of results, difficulties, discoveries, thoughts for future development as may be appropriate for each particular project case. Finally, provide recommendations leaving footprints for future workers to follow and concise conclusions plus references. Archival traceability is a key component of this type of work. Of course this 'outline' has to be tailored to suit every different MSE451 project.
